- Two weeks if employed for more than six months but less than one year; and
- Four weeks if employed for one year or more.

Notice must be explained orally by or on behalf of the employer to an employee who is not able to understand it.

All monies due to an employee for any wages, allowance or other payments that have not been paid, paid time- off not taken and pro-rata leave must be paid.

2. Procedure for termination of employment.

Whilst the contract of employment makes provision for termination of employment, it must be understood that the services of an employee may not be terminated unless a valid and fair reason exists and fair procedure is followed. If an employee is dismissed without a valid reason or without a fair procedure, the employee may approach the CCMA for assistance.

Pro-rata leave and severance pay might be payable.

In the event of an employee being unable to return to work due to disability, the employer must investigate the nature of the disability and ascertain whether or not it is permanent or temporary. The employer must try to accommodate the employee as far as possible, for example, amending or adapting their duties to suit the disability. However, in the event of it not being possible for the employer to adapt the employee and/or to find alternatives, then such employer may terminate the services of the employee.

The Labour Relations Act, 66 Of 1995, sets out the procedures to be followed at the termination of services in the Code of Good Practice, in Schedule 8

3. Wage/remuneration/Payment

There is a prescribed minimum rate of remuneration. Additional payments (such as for overtime or work on Sundays or Public Holidays) are calculated from the total remuneration as indicated in clause 5 of the contract.

4. Transport allowances, bonuses, increases

These are open to negotiation between the parties unless prescribed by the Sectoral Determination (Boarding allowance, night work allowance e.t.c)

5. Hours of work

1.1 Normal hours (excluding overtime)

An employer may not require or permit an employee to work more than –

5.1.1 48 hours in any week; and

5.1.2 ten hours on any day if the employee works for five days or less in a week; or

5.1.3 eight hours in any day if the employee works for more than five days in any week.

6. Overtime

An employee may not work more than 10 hours overtime per week and may not work more than 12 hours on any day, including overtime.

Overtime must be paid at 1.5 times the employee's normal wage or an employee may agree to receive paid time off.

7. Daily and weekly rest periods

A daily rest period of 12 consecutive hours and a weekly rest period of 36 consecutive hours, which must include Sunday, unless otherwise agreed, must be allowed.

8. Meal intervals

An employee is entitled to a one-hour break for a meal after not more than five hours work. Such interval may be reduced to 30 minutes, by agreement between the parties. If required or permitted to work during this period, remuneration must be paid.

The meal interval may be taken at a specific agreed time or whenever it is practicable to do so but may not be taken later than six hours after the employee began work.

9. Sunday work

Work on Sundays is voluntary and an employee can therefore not be forced to work on a Sunday.

If the employee works on a Sunday he/she shall be paid double the daily wage. If the employee ordinarily works on a Sunday he/she shall be paid one and one-half times the wage for every hour worked.

10. Public Holidays

The days mentioned in the Public Holidays Act must be granted but the parties can agree to further public holidays. Work on a public holiday is entirely voluntary and an employee may not be forced to work on such public holiday.

The official public holidays are:

- New Years Day
- Youth Day
- Human Rights Day
- National Woman's Day
- Good Friday
- Heritage Day
- Family Day
- Day of Reconciliation
- Freedom Day
- Christmas Day
- Workers Day
- Day of Goodwill
- Any other day declared an official public holiday from time to time should also be granted.

These days can be exchanged for any other day by agreement.

If the employee works on a public holiday he/she shall be paid double the normal day's wage.

11. Annual leave

Annual leave may not be less than 21 consecutive days for full-time workers or by agreement, one day for every 17 days worked or one hour for every 17 hours worked.

The leave must be granted not later than six months after completion of the period of 12 consecutive months of employment. The leave may not be granted concurrent with any period of sick leave, nor with a period of notice of termination of the contract of employment.

12. Sick leave

During every sick leave cycle of 36 months an employee is entitled to an amount of paid sick leave equal to the number of days the employee would normally work during a period of six weeks.

During the first six months of employment, an employee is entitled to one day's paid sick leave for every 26 days worked.

The employer is not required to pay an employee if the employee has been absent from work for more than two consecutive days or on more than two occasions during an eight-week period and, on request by the employer, does not produce a medical certificate stating that the employee was unable to work for the duration of the employee's absence on account of sickness or injury.

13. Maternity leave

The employee is entitled to at least four consecutive months' maternity leave. The employer is not obliged to pay the employee for the period for which she is off work due to her pregnancy. However, the parties may agree that the employee will receive part of her entire salary/wages for the time that she is off due to pregnancy.

14. Family responsibility leave

Employees employed for longer than four months and for at least four days a week are entitled to take three days' paid family responsibility leave during each leave cycle when the employee's child is born, when the employee's child is sick or in the event of the death of the employee's spouse or life partner or parent, adoptive parent, grandparent, child, adopted child, grandchild or sibling.

15. Deduction from the remuneration

The Sectoral Determination prohibits an employer from deducting any monies from the employee's wages without his/her written permission.

16. Other issues

There are certain other issues, which are not regulated by the Sectoral Determination such as probationary periods, right of entry to the employer's premises, afternoons off, week-ends-off and pension schemes, medical aid schemes, training/school fees, funeral benefits and savings account. However, the aforementioned may be negotiated between the parties and included in the contract of employment.

17. Prohibition of Employment

The Sectoral Determination prohibits employment of any person under the age of 15 and it is therefore important for an employer to verify the age of the employee by requesting a copy of the identity document or birth certificate.

18. Other Conditions of Employment

There is no provision, which prevents any other conditions of employment being included in a contract of employment but any provision, which sets conditions, which are less favorable than those set by the Act, would be invalid.
