Short title and commencement

3. (1) This Act shall be called the Remuneration of Public Office Bearers Amendment Act, 2000.

(2) This Act, excluding section 2(c), shall be deemed to have come into operation on 2 June 1999.

MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE REMUNERATION OF PUBLIC OFFICE BEARERS AMENDMENT BILL, 2000

1.1 Section 3 of the Remuneration of Public Office Bearers Act, 1998 (Act No. 20 of 1998) (hereinafter referred to as “the Remuneration Act”) establishes a framework for the determination of salaries and allowances of members of the National Assembly and permanent delegates to the National Council of Provinces. In terms of section 3(6) of the Remuneration Act, a member of the National Assembly is to be paid with effect from the date of the publication of the lists of names of representatives, while a permanent delegate is to be paid with effect from the date of his or her appointment. In order to provide for the remuneration of these office bearers during the period between the election date and the date of the publication of lists of representatives in respect of a member of the National Assembly, and the date of appointment in respect of a permanent delegate, respectively, it has become necessary to amend section 3(6) so as to provide for continuity in the payment of salaries, allowances and benefits. This continuity is attained by providing, in respect of members of the National Assembly, for the polling day of an election to be the date from which such a member is entitled to remuneration, and, in respect of a permanent delegate, for the first sitting day of the provincial legislature concerned to be the day from which a permanent delegate is so entitled.

1.2 Section 6 of the Remuneration Act provides a framework for determining the upper limit of salaries and allowances of Premiers, members of Executive Councils and members of provincial legislatures. Section 6(7) does not reflect the current financial and accounting practice that draws a distinction between salaries of Premiers and members of Executive Councils, which must be appropriated by provincial legislatures by way of an appropriation Act, and salaries and allowances of other members of provincial legislatures, which form a direct charge against the Provincial Revenue Fund of each province. It has therefore become necessary to effect an amendment to reflect the existing practice of providing for the salaries of members of the Executive Councils through their departmental budgets.

In order to attain the same continuity referred to in paragraph 1.1 above in respect of the members of provincial legislatures, provision is also made for the first polling day of an election to be the day from which a member of the provincial legislature is entitled to remuneration.

2.1 Clause 1 of the Bill amends section 3 of the Act by referring to the first polling day of an election as the date from which a member of the National Assembly is entitled to remuneration, and referring to the first sitting day of the provincial legislature concerned as the date from which a permanent delegate is so entitled.

2.2 Clause 2 of the Bill amends section 6 of the Act by providing for the salaries and allowances of members of provincial executives to be provided for through their respective departmental budgets, and the salaries and allowances of provincial legislators to annually form a direct charge against the Provincial Revenue Fund concerned. Provision is also made for the first polling day of an election to be reckoned as the date from which a member of a provincial legislature is entitled to remuneration.

Implications for provinces

The effects of the proposed amendments on the provinces would be that each province would have to provide for salaries and allowances of its Premier and members of Executive Councils by way of an appropriation Act.

Implications for municipalities

None

Parliamentary procedure

The Department of Provincial and Local Government and the State Law Advisers are of the opinion that the Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure prescribed by section 76(1) of the Constitution. In terms of section 76(4)(b) of the Constitution, legislation “envisaged in Chapter 13 of the Constitution and which affects the financial interests of the provincial sphere of government” must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure established by section 76(1).
